Dear Parents,

Congratulations! We are almost done with week 11 of remote learning. We appreciate everything you have done to keep learning alive in your home and are grateful for your partnership.

Promoting social and emotional learning at home can be challenging. Our goal continues to be to help you maintain a balance. In collaboration with the Devereux Center for Resilient Children, this week's focus is on Relationship Skills and excerpt is below:

What are Relationship Skills?

Relationship Skills, the ability to interact positively and productively with other people, is one of the most important social and emotional skills. Whether it is making and keeping a friend, being part of a team, or working on an important project with others, relationship skills are essential to our success, productivity, and happiness. Like all social and emotional skills, relationship skills take practice to develop. Here are some suggestions to help your child build these critical skills.

Strategy – “Who’s Great at This?”

The goal of this strategy is simple – to help our children recognize and build important relationship skills. For more information, please refer to link: Promoting SEL at Home: Relationship Skills*

Please email me directly at pbell@lebtwpk8.org if you are picking up your children's supplies on the same day. There is no need to make two or more trips if they are in different grade levels. We will have all children's supplies ready to go. Please note that if your child is participating in ESY (Extended School Year) remotely this summer, please do not return their Chromebook.

Also, please note that the parent portal will be closed on June 1st and reopen on June 8th by 3 pm.

In closing, please take care and enjoy the weekend. Never forget that we are in this together and are here to help.

Sincerely,

Patricia A. Bell
